

An aerial photograph of a coastal city, likely Tel Aviv, showing a sandy beach with many colorful umbrellas and people, adjacent to a blue sea. The city is densely packed with multi-story buildings. A white-bordered inset in the upper left shows a 3D architectural rendering of a modern building with a central vertical shaft and balconies. A circular inset in the middle right shows a blue-tinted 3D model of a building's footprint, highlighting its location within the urban grid.

