

An aerial photograph showing a residential development with a row of modern, light-colored townhouses or villas. In front of the buildings is a large, rectangular swimming pool with a blue interior. Behind the pool is a clubhouse building with a red roof. The development is surrounded by lush greenery, including trees and lawns. In the background, a golf course is visible with its characteristic green fairways, sand traps, and water features. The overall scene depicts a high-end, resort-style living environment.

